

Mission

In a time when the United States political climate is growing increasingly divisive by the day, we believe that conversation and compromise is key to repairing inter-party and inter-personal relations with elected officials. We also believe in people-power—the idea that individual action and opinion can make real change in the lives of other individuals. Although our democracy is not always designed to represent people perfectly, we believe that we can play a part in returning power to We The People.

Our company's overarching aim is to encourage grassroots political communication and build people-power from the bottom up. Short-term, constituents and representatives will have the opportunity to hear from the latter on important bills or issues. Long-term, our hope is that our solution will play a role in developing a norm of simple and open lines of communication between elected officials and those who put them in office, and create a political climate that values honest discussion and differences of opinion.

How it Works

Representatives present upcoming bills and potential legislative ideas to your constituents in a place where they can voice their purposeful ideas and opinions. Constituents respond with ideas and feedback on their own virtual podiums. RebridgeUS compiles constituent responses on representative dashboards, and presents the actionable data to your representative. Representatives can then put constituent opinions into action when voting on bills and measures and constituents can stay up to date with representatives' votes when issues on their podium are proposed or passed.

Values

As an organization rebridgeUS aims to be unbiased, clear, safe, and pursue equality in every sense of the word. We understand that our market is divided and often controversial. Our platform aims to be a communicative addition to the market while also encouraging respect and understanding.

Unbiased

Our goal is to provide constituents with information to make informed decisions, presented as factual, statistical, and free from opinion.

Clear

Providing transparent information, free from rhetoric and jargon, to best assist constituents in the decision making process.

Safe

Our platform will be a place for discourse but will not tolerate hostility, targeted threats, or any form of hate which do not serve as tools for productive conversation.

Equal

We understand and value diversity, and our platform aims to reflect the same quality and treat those with diverse backgrounds and opinions equally.

Our Team

Janessa Cruz

A communications guru, Janessa focuses on messaging and creating copy for the rebridgeUS solution. She handles all things written for our clients and users' alike. Her double major in English and Digital Communications positions her perfectly to create clear and effective content.

Devon Malloy

Project manager and designer, Devon works to ensure that everything looks great and runs ontime. With a dual degree in Digital Communications and Global Studies, her background in politics also helps rebridgeUS to better understand the market space and user needs.

Albert Perdomo

A user-experience driven web developer, Albert works at rebridgeUS focusing on the needs of our users and working to create an solution for both representative and constituent. Albert is a Digital Communications major at Lebanon Valley College with a concentration in User Experience.

