

Who are We?

“The Blue Valor Foundation is a Maryland, non-profit corporation dedicated to assisting the families of fallen law enforcement officers throughout the state of Maryland.”

The Blue Valor Foundation was brought to be after Baltimore County Police Officer First Class Jason Schneider, a Special Weapons and Action Team member, was tragically killed on August 13, 2013 during a routine raid in Catonsville, MD. Jason selflessly led his team into a residence where he encountered gunfire and was mortally wounded.

Take a look at a few events we took place in on the center pages.

The Jason Schneider Memorial

The Baltimore County Police Department looked for ways to help Jason's family. Members of the department's Firearms Training team opted for a golf tournament in memory of Jason. The standard flags would be replaced with Thin Blue Line flags that would have an officer's name who was killed in the line of duty and their end of watch number.

The inaugural golf tournament was held on May 5th, 2014 at Hayfields Country Club in Hunt Valley, MD.

The golf tournament has since gained massive public interest from across the state of Maryland. Gaining the attention of sports legends Brooks Robinson (Baltimore Orioles), Ron Hansen (Baltimore Orioles), Tom Matte (Baltimore Colts), Al Bumbry (Baltimore Orioles), Andy North (ESPN, Two Time U.S. Open winner), prominent politicians as well as sponsorship from the late PGA Hall of Famer, "The King", Arnold Palmer.

Due to overwhelming support and interest in participating, the event has become one of the top premier golf tournaments in the Baltimore area.

What made this day even more eventful was the Police vs Fire game after the main TU game. This was a friendly competitive lacrosse game between members of local fire and police departments.
